MUSTARD OIL DISCOVERY

The P2074 partnership can confirm that the 205/27-3 and 205/27-3z wells were both oil discoveries in a reservoir quality Solan sandstone of Late Jurassic age.

Good quality core and MDT oil samples were taken over the 205/27-3 reservoir interval and pressure data gathered in both wells. As planned, neither well was tested. Both well bores have been plugged back to the 9 5/8" shoe and the top-hole section retained for potential future use.

The partnership will now undertake a detailed review of the well results including core and sample analysis before any comment is made about volumetrics and commerciality.
